1886–1959

A Coke cost 5 cents for about 70 years.

@bino_da_producer

Swipe →

1886: Coca-Cola goes on sale.

- 1886 5¢
- 1918 ?
- 1930s ?
- 1945 ?

1918: World War I ends.

1886 5¢

1918 Still 5¢

1930s ?

1945 ?

1930s: the Great Depression.

1886	5¢
1918	5¢
1930s	Still 5¢
1945	?

1945: World War II ends.

1886	5¢
1918	5¢
1930s	5¢
1945	Still 5¢

Why? Vending machines that only took one nickel.

> Changing the price meant changing the machines.

THE WILD IDEA

Coca-Cola reportedly even floated a 7.5-cent coin.

> It never happened.

By 1959, the nickel Coke was gone.

> Economists still study it as a famous case of "sticky" prices.

2026

Today, when prices can't move, the package shrinks.

@bino_da_producer

Swipe →

DO THIS

Your move

DON'T COMPARE

Price per pack

COMPARE

Price per ounce

> Check the unit price on your next grocery run.