Feb 2011: IBM's Watson answered a U.S. Cities clue with Toronto.

The clue

> Its largest airport is named for a World War II hero; its second largest, for a World War II battle.

CORRECT

The humans wrote Chicago.

> Ken Jennings and Brad Rutter both got it.

Watson wrote:

“What is Toronto?????”

It had bet only $947.

$947

Watson's Final Jeopardy wager, game 1

Final totals after two games

🤖 Watson $77,147

🧑 Jennings $24,000

🧑 Rutter $21,600

Its second-ranked answer was Chicago.

> IBM's David Ferrucci said Watson weighted the category name only weakly.

The top answer can be wrong while the right one sits just below it.

Your 3-step AI check:

1. Ask for alternatives
2. Ask how sure it is
3. Verify anything you'd bet on