A hedge fund lost 53% in one month.

> Its opponent was a message board.

GameStop started January at about $17.

$17.25

GME at the start of January 2021 (pre-split)

Wall Street had bet against it.

~140%

of the public float sold short, Jan 22, 2021

Retail traders piled in.

> Melvin Capital took a $2.75 billion lifeline from Citadel and Point72.

The ride, in three prices.

- Jan 1 $17.25
- Jan 28 $483 peak
- Feb 2 under $100

Jan 28: Robinhood halts purchases.

> The intraday high was $483.

Melvin: −53% in January.

> The fund closed in 2022.

Both sides got hurt.

BOUGHT AT $483

Down more than 80% a week later

SHORTED AT $17

Melvin down 53% in a month

YOUR RULE

A squeeze is a fight, not an investment.

1. Size every bet so one bad week can't sink you
2. Decide your exit before you buy
3. Keep the core in boring, diversified funds

@bino_da_producer

Save this ↓